If you have relatives who attend or have attended Yale, other than parents, stepparents, or grandparents, please list relationship to you, name, year of graduation, and degree.

III • Second Essay (required)

You have already told us about yourself in the Common Application, with its list of activities, the Short Answer, and the Personal Statement. While we leave the topic of your second essay entirely up to you, we encourage you to use this opportunity to tell us something that we could not learn from the rest of your application. Try to pick a topic that will convey some aspect of your experience or outlook that you would like us to understand better. Please keep your essay under 500 words. Your essay should be printed on a separate sheet of paper marked "Second Essay" with your full legal name and date of birth at the top, and enclosed with your completed Supplement.

IV • Additional Testing (optional)

The Common Application provides space for you to report the results of the SAT I, SAT II Subject Tests, ACT, and TOEFL. Please list here any other tests you have taken, such as Advanced Placement, International Baccalaureate, AHSME, AIME, Fermat, etc. If your secondary schooling has taken place outside the United States in a curriculum not patterned on the educational system in the U.S., you should request that your school submit the International Supplement to the Secondary School Report of the Common Application in addition to the Common Application's School Report. (Both are available on the Common Application Web site or on the Yale site at www.yale.edu/admit.)

Please list your test results to date. Include the name of the test, the date taken, and the score received for each one.

V • Supplementary Materials (optional)

As mentioned in the Application Instructions, candidates with exceptionally well developed skills may choose to submit tapes, slides, or samples of academic work such as scientific abstracts. (For further information go to www.yale.edu/admit/freshmen/application/supplementary.) Check here if you intend to submit supplementary materials for evaluation. They should be submitted by the application deadline.
