

Ahram Daily

January 6, 2011

Translation by Google

Dr. Hatem, the Minister of Health, will be developing the infrastructure of the outpatient and management systems for the National Heart Institute. The project draws upon the foreign expertise of Yale University in America, in addition to the National Bank of Egypt. The news came during his meeting yesterday with the delegation of the University, led by Dr. Betsy Bradley, Professor of Public Health and Tarek Amer, Chairman of the Board of Directors, NBE, to discuss development of management in hospitals. It was agreed during the meeting that he identified five hospitals to strengthen their management.