Promotion of these events

Where will all of the events get posted?

Website – institutions to have links on their web pages to bring them back.

Gilder Lehrman can make a pdf of an event calendar to post in Fall '08 after events are finalized

Possibilities

1. Connecticut Commission on Culture and Tourism site?
2. Howard's site – www.simplylincoln.com
3. Gilder Lehrman to list?
4. Post all on H-Connecticut listserv
5. National Lincoln Bicentennial site? – Follow up from Clarissa post-meeting – “I had volunteered to look into the official Lincoln Bicentennial Web site in terms of official logo, calendar of events, etc. The site can be accessed via: <http://www.lincolnbicentennial.gov> and <http://www.abrahamlincoln200.org/> Only programs endorsed by the Abraham Lincoln Bicentennial Commission (ALBC) can use the official logo. The details of the application process are in the attached PDF, in case any of the institutions wish to pursue this for their programs. (Note: according to the ALBC, "The review process can take several months.") Endorsed programs/events are also listed on the site with links to the host institution's Web site. The site also has a calendar. However, it is not clear whether only endorsed programs are listed, so I've sent a message seeking clarification on this. I'll update you when I receive a reply. I did not see any events from CT on this list nor on the endorsed programs list.”
6. From Clarissa post-meeting re: launching a new site – “Lastly, there was mention of creating a site, perhaps, www.CTLincoln.org for statewide events if there was enough activity to warrant this. I checked this address in both upper (as here) and lower case; no one is "squatting" on either permutation, for what it's worth.”

Printed piece – dates would need to be chosen by Fall '09

1. Piece to announce programs of the 4 institutions

Potential Funding for Marketing

1. Connecticut Commission on Culture & Tourism
2. Connecticut Humanities Council – first of every month for <$5000
3. Lisa Curran and Lincoln Financial

Actions for institutions:

Institutions would work separately to come with their own plans. Date for kick off celebration decided by July, Other programs decided by September. We would be back in touch with each other through email unless we feel another meeting is necessary.

Meeting adjourned at 2:30 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Andrea Rapacz, Connecticut Historical Society
