

Finding Advanced Teaching Opportunities At Other Academic Institutions

Adjunct Teaching Positions at Local Colleges and Universities

Many local institutions use adjunct faculty. These positions typically require or prefer a master's degree and relevant experience and are thus accessible to appropriately qualified upper-level graduate students. Many adjunct opportunities are determined well before the beginning of the academic school year, so it's best to look for opportunities early. It is also helpful to contact the secretary or registrar in the department where you would like to teach because courses sometimes need instructors at the last minute. Some possibilities include:

Central Connecticut State University (New Britain, CT)

<http://www.ccsu.edu/jobs/>

Eastern Connecticut State University (Willimantic, CT)

<http://www.ecsu.ctstateu.edu/depts/personnel/parttime.html>

Southern Connecticut State University (New Haven, CT)

http://www.southernct.edu/employment/Job\_Openings/

Western Connecticut State University (Danbury, CT)

<http://www.wcsu.edu/hr/employment/current.asp>

University of New Haven

<http://www.newhaven.edu/employment/>

Albertus Magnus College (New Haven, CT)

<http://www.albertus.edu/about/employment.shtml>

Briarwood College (Southington, CT)

http://www.briarwood.edu/about\_briarwood/employment.html

Wesleyan University (Middletown, CT)

http://www.wesleyan.edu/acaf/Faculty\_Openings.html

Gateway Community College

<http://www.gwctc.commnet.edu/contact.aspx?id=803>

Other Connecticut community colleges can be found at

<http://www.commnet.edu/>