Publications

Monographs

Smith, P. 2008. Punishment and Culture. Chicago. University of Chicago Press. Pp. 219. ISBN: 13: 978-0-226-76610-2

Note: This is a comparative cultural history looking at the social meanings of punishment process and technology within civil and popular discourse from around 1750 until today. It makes a theoretical argument against Foucault and for Durkheim, demonstrating the continuing role of the sacred and profane in our thinking about formal social control.

Smith, P. 2005. Why War? The Cultural Logic of Iraq, the Gulf War and Suez. Chicago. University of Chicago Press. Pp. 254 ISBN: 0-226-76388-9

Note: Systematic comparative analysis of civil discourse for the three wars over four countries. The book argues for the role of narrative genre in risk perception and moral mobilization. Finalist/'Honorable Mention' ASA Culture Section Awards 2006.

Edited Collections of Original Essays
