Report from your President and Vice President

We have certainly enjoyed our year with YUWO! We know that YUWO is an organization of very capable women and that makes the job a joy. We thank everyone who has been involved. We have learned a great deal and generally had a fine time.

We believe that YUWO is thriving. During the past year, membership increased and a number of new activities were added to the many which have been so satisfying in the past. From cooking to play reading to tennis to language groups, YUWO truly has something for everyone. We also continue to try to use new technologies effectively … email certainly makes our jobs much easier, and the YUWO website continues to offer the latest information about activities and events. Some members now receive their YUWO newsletter via email as well!

We hope to plan a fund raiser for our scholarship program during the coming year and will welcome any suggestions from the membership. (Volunteers are welcome, too!)

We wish you all a pleasant summer and look forward to another year of the same, with Allie at the helm once again, Patty Pollard as the new vice president, and Marty back in her “behind-the-scenes” role, assisting wherever possible from her new home in the Litchfield Hills.

Newcomers Report

Forty-three new members joined YUWO during 2004-05.

In August, a special card was sent to new Yale employees (or their spouses), as well as women who had recently retired from Yale, inviting them to attend the Wine and Cheese Reception to be held at the President's House on September 14.

Many of these women attended the reception. Soon after meeting some others in attendance and learning of YUWO's activities, they chose to become members and signed up for future events right away. Other newcomers joined later in the year as they heard of YUWO activities from current members or friends in the Yale community.

Early in October, newcomers and several board members spent a pleasant evening together, enjoying dessert and conversation at Alison Davie-Lewis' home in North Haven. On November 16, we held another informal meeting at the Hot Tomato's Restaurant in downtown New Haven.

The last event held specifically for newcomers this year was a luncheon at Mory's on a rainy Saturday in early April, 2005. In spite of the weather, we had a good attendance and enjoyed becoming better acquainted with the latest group of talented, interesting women who have joined YUWO.

The monthly newsletters, published from August/September to May, highlight upcoming special events and activities and provide information to members on our many regular programs including Lunch and Learn, Book Groups, Art Aficionados, Exploring New Haven and Environs, Movie Matinees, Play Readers and Travel Gourmet. The newsletter also lists programs of particular interest to members such as health talks presented by the Yale New Haven Hospital Auxiliary. Our president and vice-president communicate with our members through monthly messages. Manette Adams regularly writes a profile of a noteworthy member.

The newsletter is emailed to members who request it and/or is mailed to members and may be downloaded from our YUWO website (www.yale.edu/yuwo).

Study Group Report

The study groups this year were each attended by over 70 people. In the fall Charles Hill, Yale’s Diplomat-in-Residence, presented three political science lectures on “U.S. Security in the Age of Terrorism”.

The spring series “Magic of Great Opera” featured four lectures by Stephen Anderson, music teacher and historian.

The study group presented the YUWO Scholarship Fund with $2000 this year made possible by the large enrollments in the two series.

Annual Brochure

As usual, the production and distribution of the YUWO Annual Brochure was a team effort. Many thanks go to Trudy Bollier and Pat Whitestone, last year’s co-editors, for their help and encouragement and to Pat for her suggestions, photographs and proofreading. In May and June of 2004, President Alice Loomis, Activities Chair Ina Jaffee and the many interest group leaders developed plans for programs to begin in September 2004 and submitted the material for publication in the brochure. Vice-president Marty Sherman provided many hours of technical support and my daughter-in-law Maria Johnson answered my desperate calls for help with the computer many times during the production of the brochure.

With our combined efforts, the brochure was sent to the printer in early July and was ready for distribution in August when a volunteer group prepared the brochures for mailing to YUWO members, many departments of the University, recent women retirees and those newly hired by Yale. My sincere thanks to all.

Shirley Johnson, Editor
Forty women showed interest in the YUWO Scholarship program this year and requested application forms which were sent out between September 2004 and February 2005. Twenty-five complete applications were received by March 1, 2005.

The Scholarship Committee approached the task of evaluating the applicants once again with enthusiasm and diligence. Many committee members remarked on the unusual quality and high standard of our applicants this year. Hence we were particularly delighted to be able to give generously.

We awarded 13 scholarships totaling $13,000, to be used in the upcoming academic year 2005/2006. The amounts awarded ranged from $500 to $2,000. This brings the total number of recipients to 249 women and the amount of monies given to $215,500.

We owe this opportunity to give once again to the YUWO community as a whole, and especially to generous donations, the returns of wisely managed funds and to active participation in YUWO programs.

I organized four half-day trips within the New Haven community.

1. On Thursday, October 14, 2004 at 11am, twenty-two members visited Marsh Botanical Gardens, at 227 Mansfield St, New Haven, a venue not toured before. Because of the inclement weather we spent little time outdoors. Larsen and Garinger directed our visit to the workrooms and greenhouses. The activity lasted approximately one hour.

2. On Thursday, December 9, 2004 at 11am, approximately fifteen members visited the Knights of Columbus Museum, 1 State Street, New Haven to see the Architectural Treasures of the Vatican, in particular, of the model Michelangelo’s Vatican basilica. This was followed by a self guided tour of the 19th century lithographs, “Jerusalem and the Holy Lands, “by Scottish artist David Roberts and an exhibit of ancient pottery, “Light from the Age of Augustine.”

3. On Thursday, February 17, 2005 at 11am a six members visited the Crypt of the Center Church on the Green at 250 Temple St. which is preserved in the foundation of the historic building.

4. The final tour will be on Thursday, April 14, 2005 at 10am at the Federal Bureau of Investigation at 600 State Street, New Haven. The tour is expected to last approximately two hours. This particular activity has been enthusiastically received, and not all members can be accommodated. For that reason, I plan to repeat this tour in 2006.

Interest groups

The book groups are well subscribed and meet in various locations throughout NH County:

Book circle: This interest has functioned successfully with two groups of 8 and 9 members. They follow the same schedule of reading six books of fiction and six of non fiction circulating amongst the members throughout the season. There is a charge of $22.00.

Book discussions:

At the present time we offer three book discussions groups which meet at the members’ homes. The books are chosen by consensus.

Morning: Wednesdays: 9:30-11:30am. G. Goff. Eight or ten members in the New Haven, Hamden, and North Haven area regularly meet on Wednesdays once a month. The membership numbers vary, but the core group of six or seven remains. Genevieve Goff, facilitator.

Afternoon Group, Second Monday of each month, 2:30-4pm. Facilitator, Ginny Shaw. This is a well subscribed group of a consistent membership of nineteen persons servicing a diverse area from Cheshire, Madison to Milford. Its attendance is affected by the Q. Bridge (Pearl Harbor bridge) and wintering down south.

Afternoon Group: Third Monday of the month, 2:30-4pm. Alice Loomis, facilitator. This is a well subscribed group, with the intention of meeting throughout the year. The size prohibits additional members. Because of the growing shoreline membership, it has been suggested that another group be formed.

Languages:

The French group of 5 or 6 members meets regularly on Mondays at 1pm with the intention of continuing throughout the year at the Barnes & Noble Café on Broadway. We have settled on a formula of reading light fiction and poetry commenting, sometimes reading aloud. A highlight was the conference given at Luce Hall at SOM, on March 23, 2005 where the French ambassador, Jean-David Leavitt, discussed the friendship of our two countries. Marie Santo and Debbie St Thomas are the facilitators.

The German group did not meet in 2004/05, but I will try again in the fall of 2005 to find a willing leader.

Bridge Group: The group organized of two tables of bridge meets once a month on Sundays from
Activities, continued

2-5pm. It has, however, floundered due to schedules of the participants. Inge Bellis, the facilitator, suggests that the group’s schedule could accommodate the participants by omitting the winter months, January through March 31. Inge has headed this for twenty-five years and would like to suggest Ann Arnold and her husband to replace her.

Scrabble: Although more signed up than actually came, a few regularly meet at Inge Bellis’ home at 114 Vineyard Rd, Hamden, the second Sunday of the month.

Luncheon gourmet: There is a core group of twenty-five. They meet the first Thursday of the month occasionally at members’ homes but prefer the accommodations of Masters’ residences.

Lunch and Learn: Six events are organized throughout the academic year at central locations at 12 noon. Participants are encouraged to bring a brown bag lunch, and the committee provides dessert. The number of participants varies with the subject matter. The speaker begins at 12:30.

Music: Enthusiasm is expressed, but participation is minimal and frustrating for the facilitators.

Needlers: Meets the second and fourth Tuesday of every month. A core group of seven to twelve members meet at homes at 1:30pm to work on current needlework projects.

Genealogy Group: The group of thirteen meets approximately four times a year. The first meeting was held at Barnes & Noble Café in New Haven. A highlight was a field trip to the Godfrey Genealogy Library in Middletown.

Movie Matinees and Play Reading: Twelve core members gather once a month at individual homes to read plays, which are obtained through the services of the public libraries. For the matinees, rather than go to a public theater, films are rented and shown on DVD & Videos at members’ homes and more recently at the Branford Library.

Theater: Although there is no theater group this year, Yale Repertory would be glad to offer a reduced subscription price for our group. This could be attempted for the next season.

Sports:
Golf and tennis have yet to be reported on, but I believe that there are participants.

Skiing: The ski group made four trips to Butternut during this past season with great snow conditions and seven of the thirteen members participating.

Art Aficionados:
There are six programs per season meeting at noon for an art related activity. Lunch follows at a local restaurant. The responsibility is divided among three members.

Travel Gourmet: This group which has four meetings each season; two in the fall and two in the spring.
Travel Gourmet

We visited four areas this year. In September, Frances Woods arranged a visit to Smith College where we toured the Lyman Plant House, had lunch at the Smith Faculty Club and in the afternoon visited the Museum of Art. In October, Nancy Ahlstrom-Ruthman escorted us to the Bruce Museum in Greenwich to see the exhibit “Great Women, Great Science: followed by lunch at Gaia.

Jacqueline Collimore arranged a March excursion to the Thankful House and Garden in Haddam where the ‘ghost’ of Thankful Arnold escorted us on a tour of the house and grounds. We lunched at LaVita Gustosa in East Haddam. Nancy arranged the April trip to the Wadsworth Athenaeum, in Hartford, where we also had lunch.

YUWO Spring Excursion

On Friday, April 22, we traveled by bus to New York. We had a full bus of members who anticipated an interesting day visiting the NEUE Galerie, our first stop, then while traveling to our next destination, had a bag lunch. Our next stop was the Fashion Institute, known as FIT, where we visited the costume and textile collections. Our last stop in New York was a visit to interior designer Jamie Drake’s apartment for a tour and light refreshments before boarding the bus for the trip home.

Five dollars from each ticket will go to the YUWO Scholarship Fund as well as all proceeds after the expenses were paid.

Holiday Party

YUWO’s festive Holiday Party was held on Sunday, December 12, at the recently restored, elegant Betts House on Prospect Street. Richard Warren advised us with the selections of taped music of the era and talented Yale Senior, Laura Esnaola who is an Economics and Music major, charmed us with violin classics.

The usual Holiday foods and beverages were augmented with tasty donations made by YUWO members. We wish to thank those who thoughtfully volunteered time and food. We are also grateful to those who made baskets and special items for the raffle to benefit the Scholarship Fund.

We look forward to celebrating the 2005 Holidays in December and have requested to return to Betts House. See you then.

President Eva Ewing brought the meeting to order and welcomed all members and guests to the luncheon. The first order of business was to vote on the slate of officers proposed by the Nominating Committee: President: Alice Loomis; Vice-president: Martha Sherman; Recording Secretary: Marcia MacDonald; Corresponding Secretary: Philippa Warren; Activities Chair: Ina Jaffee. The slate was unanimously elected. The budget for 2004-05 was presented and approved.

President Ewing then turned the podium over the Chair of the Scholarship Committee, Michaela Hauser-Wagner, who thanked her committee for their hard work. There were thirty-nine applicants to the Scholarship program and we were able to support 16 women in their endeavors. There were three recipients who were unable to attend the luncheon: Patricia Fugal who is working towards a M.S. at SCSU in Research and Statistics, Tara Jacqueline Harris who is a premed student at Yale, and Brenda Bearce who is studying nursing at Windham Vocational Tech school. Michaela then introduced those recipients present. She mentioned first the repeat awardees: Maria Alma, who is studying at Bridgeport Hospital Nursing School; Larisa Masiarova, at SCSU in Clinical Exercise Physiology; Dana Volstorff, Yale University School of Nursing.

She continued with the following first time recipients:
Gui Ying Wu – studying marriage and family therapy at SCSU
Hillary Marino – at Clarkson University working on an Associate of Science degree
Dorothy Mack – a prenursing student at Gateway CC who will use the award to purchase a computer
Yvonne Hammonds – working at the Yale Children’s Center and studying social work at SCSU
Debra Falvey – has worked in the library for 29 years and is working towards a BS in Library Science at SCSU
Pornwadee Graves – a student from Thailand working towards a CPA at Quinnipiac University
Francine Dondji – a student from Cameroon who is studying at Thomson Education Direct in Business Management
April Bowe – works as a financial assistant at Yale and on a degree in accounting at SCSU

Carol Sirot was then invited to present the Sirot Award given to Susan Farricielli, an art student whose aim is to design and make a better wheelchair. The podium was passed to Barbara Fenn Reif who presented the Magee Fenn Scholarship to Susan Jackson Mack, a licensed foster care parent who is working on a Master in Social Work degree at Springfield College. A joyous round of applause was given to all the award recipients.

Carolyn Westerfield, chair of the annual luncheon, introduced the speakers, Jonathan Edwards College Master Gary Haller and Associate Master Sondra Haller. Gary Haller led off with a definition of the Master’s role and the traditional activities assigned to the Master’s spouse, which in their case have been expanded. Sondra took over describing her activities which include attending student meetings, being Gary’s representative at the College Council meetings, organizing the “Winter Lights” project and the planting (with the students) of 1000 tulips, overseeing charity functions and the TIES (city schools) program, and being a mentor and counselor to 410 kids, among other things. Gary continued with a description of his outreach activities in the community which include the sponsorship of extracurricular events, e.g. The Magic Flute production, Yale Traveling fellowships, 3-5 day visits of scientist of note, the NYC culture program in which they take students to NYC for plays, ballet, opera and the like, organizing art exhibits in the college (a favorite of Gary’s), and the organization of the Master’s Teas (speakers of note who talk about their careers, how they got started, and dialogue with the students). The audience couldn’t help but be impressed with the extent to which the Hallers give of themselves to create a warm and enriching college experience for the student in their care. They were appreciatively thanked for sharing their experience with us.

President Ewing asked people to look at the yellow sheets at their tables giving them the opportunity to sign up to help with the various YUWO activities during the year. With that she called the meeting adjourned and wished everyone well.

Respectfully submitted
Betsy Suatoni, Recording Secretary
YUWO Scholarship Donors in 2004-2005

The following individuals contributed to one or more of YUWO’s several scholarship funds (the Annual Scholarship Fund, the Magee Fenn Fund, the Gustave and Carol Sirot Fund, and the YUWO Scholarship Trust Fund) during the 2004-2005 fiscal year. This list reflects donations as of April 15, 2005.

The Annual Scholarship Fund and the Magee Fenn Fund are administered by YUWO. Donations to either of these funds should be made to the current YUWO Treasurer.

The YUWO Scholarship Trust Fund and the Gustave and Carol Sirot Fund are administered by the Community Foundation for Greater New Haven. Donations to these two funds MUST be mailed directly to the Community Foundation for Greater New Haven, 70 Audubon Street, New Haven, CT 06511.
