YUWO Bus Trip on Wednesday, November 5, 2014
BOSTON MUSEUM of FINE ARTS

Featuring Two Special Exhibitions:

Jamie Wyeth: A Retrospective, the first in more than 30 years and

Goya: Order & Disorder, the largest exhibit in North America in a quarter century

Other special exhibits: Jasper Johns: 22 works/ Shinque Smith installation/ Hollywood Glamour exhibit. (Plus the MFA’s superb collections of art from around the world.)

Jamie Wyeth: the retrospective of 100 of his landscapes, portraits and drawings, painted over the past 60 years presents a full range of Jamie Wyeth's work from his earliest, virtuoso portraits to his most current mysteriously symbolic seascapes. The son of Andrew Wyeth, Jamie knew and painted many famous Americans as well as the landscapes of the Brandywine River Valley and coastal Maine, family members and fellow artists, domestic and wild animals. This wide range of paintings place him in the context of his own distinguished artistic heritage as well as in the long tradition of American realist painting and its contemporary revival.

Goya: Order & Disorder: Over 160 examples of portraits, prints and drawings from the MFA collections plus loans from the Prado, Louvre, Uffizi, Metropolitan Museum, National Gallery and private collections. The full range of Goya’s ingenuity is on display: from the elegant full-length portraits of aristocrats that established his reputation in Madrid, to the satirical prints that carried his fame beyond his country, and to the sympathetic or acerbic drawings from his private albums that reveal the very foundation of his ideas.
